WIDE-AWAKE POETRY.

Sunshine Song. The thing that goes the farthest Twards making life worth while, That coan the least and does the most, Is just a pleasant smile.

The smile that bubbles from the heart, That loves its fellow man, Will drive away the clouds of gloom And coax the sun again.

When we see a cheery amile.
It always has the same good look,
It's never out of style.

It nerves us on to try again.
When failure makes us blue;
The dimples of encouragement
Are good for me and you.

To smile is very easy.

When allies are bright and clear,
And yet how oft We all forget
The magic of a tear. It sparkes 'round the heart-strings

And drives them all away. Oh, it's full worth and goodness, too,

With many kindness blond It's worth a million dollars. And it does not cost a cent.

UNITE JED'S TALK TO WIDE-AWARES.

There used to be a teacher of a school down in Tennessees named Sawney. It way a small school in size but great in results. It was a school where due stress was placed upon the importance of character building where minds were trained in the right direction, and where future citizens of sound bleam were graduated.

It was the idea of this schoolmaster to as direct the education of his publis as to make men of them in every sense of the word. He made due allowance for his made rise due allowance for his material but he builded in keeping therewith.

Doing things on the sly is simply depeption. It is endeavoring to do what is well recognized as being wrong under the idea that someone else will get the blame for it. It is knowingly being dishones and fetting others be subjected to suspicion. It is directly against that old saying that honesty is the best policy, for persisted in there is no telling where it will lead to.

The Broken Window

Dear Uncle Jed: I will tell you about two boys. George and James were playing ball and the ball hit a window and the man came out to see what was going on. When the boys heard the man comon. When the boys heard the man coming they ran and hid and after a while they heard h voice calling them. They looked around and they saw their mother and she said to them: "Don't you know it is wrong to go and hide?" "No" the boys said, so they went and told the man that they broke the window and said they were willing to pay for it.

One fine day in summer my brother knew where the fish were, so I threw my line out. After a while I pulled up a tangle of weeds. Then I went a little way from the place where my brother was. There I had my luck, and every time I drew in my line I pulled up a fish. When I had twelve fish we went home.

My father said that I had good luck in fishing.
